Villepinte, May 14, 2018

DRONE VOLT, a French aeronautics manufacturer specializing in professional civilian drones, has announced the signing of a letter of commitment with the French army for the purchase of drones and the training of drone pilots.

Following a lengthy competitive public procurement process, the French army has recognized and chosen the technical expertise of the DRONE VOLT design office in the development of customized high-tech drones, the industrial capabilities of DRONE VOLT FACTORY in the production area as well as the instructional skills of DRONE VOLT ACADEMY in the training of drone pilots. This letter of commitment, which formally sets out the agreed framework agreement, is multi-year and renewable.

All of the production and training will be carried out in France (more specifically in PARIS-CDG-Villepinte) by DRONE VOLT FACTORY and DRONE VOLT ACADEMY.

On this occasion, Olivier Gualdoni, Chairman / CEO of DRONE VOLT, said: "I congratulate the Drone Volt teams for this major success, which is a result of the personal implication on a daily basis of all team members in the development of an extremely audacious industrial project. For our young company, meeting the requirements of the French army was a challenge that we have been able to take on together, as well as a demonstration of our know-how. This bodes well for more great successes in the future."
