

DRONE VOLT

Contract with the Belgian civil protection service for the supply of PENSAR cameras

Villepinte, November 8, 2018

DRONE VOLT, a French aeronautics manufacturer specializing in professional civilian drones, has announced that it has won a new contract for the supply of intelligent cameras.

DRONE VOLT Benelux, a DRONE VOLT subsidiary based in Brussels, has been chosen by the Belgian civil protection service, a division of the Civil Security General Directorate, for the supply of two PENSAR cameras. This new contract is further proof of the turnaround of AERIALTRONICS, a Group subsidiary acquired in bankruptcy proceedings only one year ago and revived in record time. AERIALTRONICS developed the PENSAR camera.

The PENSAR camera is a very high technology camera featuring an Artificial Intelligence module and offering revolutionary solutions in terms of inspection and reconnaissance. With processing power of 1 teraflop, the PENSAR camera comes with tracking software, a 30x zoom camera and a thermal camera. It additionally offers perfect data security without transmission to uncontrolled third-party servers.

Olivier Gualdoni, the chairman / CEO of DRONE VOLT, stated that "in a highly competitive area, DRONE VOLT has once again displayed its technological expertise. The AI module included in the PENSAR camera, a genuine concentrated package of technology that required four years of R&D, confirms our high level of qualifications in regards to surveillance and tracking missions."
