

DRONE VOLT

Shows confidence in 2023

Villepinte, 20th of february 2023

DRONE VOLT, expert in embedded artificial intelligence and manufacturer of professional civil drones, gives an update on its activity.

DRONE VOLT announces that it is currently negotiating several significant orders. These orders concern all of the group's activities: distribution, the sale of products and services from its factories, and the provision of services.

In particular, the group is working on significant deals in Africa and Europe that could come to fruition in the first half of the year.

DRONE VOLT is confident that it will post sustained growth in its business in 2023.

"We are approaching 2023 with a great deal of confidence," says Marc Courcelle, CEO of DRONE VOLT. "We have already demonstrated our capacity for growth last year by reporting a 50% increase in turnover. And we are looking forward to another year of growth driven by our latest technological developments and our industrial and commercial strategy."
